THE KENDRA LINDSAY BOWERS FOUNDATION

The Greenlove Foundation was established in memory of Kendra L. Bowers, a passionate environmentalist who tragically lost her life at the young age of 19. Kendra was an admirer of the Earth's natural beauty, a Capella singer, a camp counselor, and an active environmental science student at UVM. Her life goals were the "preservation and protection of our land and its resources". Kendra, known also as the "green police," was a strong advocate of water conservation and strongly opposed the purchase and use of plastic bottled water. She lived by the "recycle, reduce, re-use" mantra daily and encouraged others to do so as well. Her Nalgene water bottle accompanied her to school, travels, events, and camp on Squam Lake. Kendra was passionate about encouraging others to admire and enjoy the natural beauty of the Earth and teaching the importance of protecting and saving our planet. She reminded us to live our lives, to be spontaneous, to love and to be kind. The Greenlove Foundation was founded to continue Kendra's legacy. The foundation "fulfills its mission through its three (3) initiatives: donations of water bottle filling stations to schools and recreational areas, an educational scholarship to a student pursuing environmental studies, and a sleep-away camp scholarship to a girl of limited means to attend camp on Squam Lake in the White Mountains of NH. Twenty-four (24) GLF water bottle filling stations have been installed in schools, parks, conservation and recreational areas throughout Rhode Island and beyond. Collectively, Greenlove water stations have saved 650,000 bottles from waste.

This year Greenlove Foundation is offering a one-time scholarship in the amount of $1500 to a college student from Rhode Island, who is currently a full time college freshman, sophomore or junior studying an Environmental Science related field. The candidate should demonstrate good academic standing.

The GLF Scholarship will be awarded to the student who best exemplifies the ability to make a difference through their leadership, vision, commitment and proactive involvement of local and world environmental needs.
